ARISTOCRATIC APPEAL

From the street, this home has all the elegance of an aristocratic old home in New England. That elegance flows into the interior, where it's mixed with an exuberant, youthful spirit. A wealth of windows bounce light throughout the open floor plan and enhance the home's spacious feel. Notice the direct sight-line from the front foyer to the French doors and flanking windows in the great room. That's visual impact.

In traditional fashion, a central hall links rooms. In a nod to contemporary lifestyles, the public rooms are open to the hall, defined by stately columns and tall decorative tray ceilings. The entire house is enriched with special amenities. Display beautiful china and collectibles in the dining room built-ins. Stash books and games in the built-ins in the private den. Gather round the great-room fireplace on a chilly evening or breakfast on the back patio on a balmy morning.

Efficiency isn't ignored in this charmer. The kitchen is furnished with an island, fitted with a self-venting cooktop and a sit-down snack counter. A walk-in pantry boosts storage capacity. Pleasant and practical, the laundry room is equipped with a sink, cabinets, and countertops for folding clothes. A coat closet adjacent to the three-car garage keeps family outerwear handy.

The right wing of the home accommodates two bedrooms and a compartmentalized bath plus a master suite designed for pampering.
